

The "no new taxes and no deficit" pledge of Governor Kim Sigler, voiced in his inaugural message to the legislature, points the way clearly to re-submission of the issue of sales tax diversion to the voters at the April election.

The Governor's stand was expressed in these words: "The approval of the so-called sales tax diversion has taken away a major share of the state's chief revenue and placed it in the hands of the schools and local units of government. Under this amendment, the schools may receive upwards of a total of one hundred sixteen million dollars a year—a sum far in excess of the wildest dreams of the most enthusiastic school supporters but a few weeks ago.

"Many townships, villages and cities will receive money without any relationship to their needs.

"This condition represents a lopsided financial picture, and we find ourselves faced with this question: Can we continue the present state services and operate the government at its present level without the adoption of new taxes?

"In my statements during the recent campaign, I voiced opposition to the levying of new taxes. I believed then, and I have not changed my opinion, that the people of Michigan are paying enough taxes to finance good government.

"I am convinced that the solution of the problem lies not in more new taxes, but in seeing to it that those which we are now paying are used and expended equitably."

Declining to make any definite recommendations as to means whereby the "no new taxes and no deficit" pledge might be carried out, Governor Sigler has given firm notice that the needs of the state, as the major government of Michigan, are imperative and that he intends to do something about them.

The Governor's declaration, interpreted any way you wish, puts the State of Michigan, first on the list. As Governor of the State, Sigler is displaying the same spirit of devotion to the needs of the state services as did his predecessor, Harry F. Kelly. Sigler chided the voters for jumping to the conclusion that "we have accumulated huge surpluses," whereas the state did have "certain surpluses, but not to the extent commonly supposed."

If the state is to achieve "a more equitable distribution of our income and responsibilities among local units of government on all levels," then the new sales tax diversion amendment must be eliminated or revised. This amendment, as we have repeatedly emphasized, does not divert one-third of the sales tax to home governments; it diverts 76 percent of the revenue to home governments with public schools getting the lion's share.

In that extreme and inequitable distribution of the state's major tax lies the basic trouble. The amendment created a financial impossibility. State Treasurer D. Hale Brake recently warned school districts against counting their chickens before they were hatched—that is, increasing teachers' wages in anticipation of the new financial melon from the state treasury.

A "more equitable distribution" of taxes now collected by the state would still make possible financial relief to school districts. Prior to the November election, Rep. John R. Egan, of Eagle, long-time chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, warned that the state government could not function on only 24 percent of the state sales tax. He recommended an increase of 25 to 33 percent in the state's school aid—some $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 more for the coming biennium.

February 9 is the deadline for filing of a legislative resolution to re-submit the amendment at the spring election.

If the legislature would decline to re-submit the sales tax issue to the voters next spring—and it is likely that the Michigan Education Association and the mayors of large cities will want to get assurances of adequate financial substitutes—then the next alternate steps would be circulation of petitions by the voters or the calling of a state constitutional convention.

In recent years state elective officials have been hesitant about issuing a constitutional convention because of the fluctuating temper of the public. The present financial crisis might overcome this objection.

Governor Sigler's recommendation for "better marketing and distribution of agricultural products" focused attention on a long-felt need in Michigan. The state department of agriculture has been pushing this program for years—with limited success. The greatest obstacle has been the Michigan grower himself. He has declined to submit to uniform state inspection, grading and marketing of

Hold Services For Bryan Newell

Funeral services for Bryan Newell, 50, were held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Michelson Memorial Church with Rev. R. C. Puffer of Grayling and Rev. Leon May of Alma officiating.

Mr. Newell died about 7 o'clock last Wednesday evening in the cab of the Crawford County Road Commission snowplow, stuck in a deep snow drift near Lovells. Coroner Alfred Sorenson ruled that death was caused by a heart attack.

Ed Chalker of Grayling who was with Newell, said the plow became mired in a huge pile of snow about a mile south of Lovells at 6 o'clock. He stated he left to go to a nearby house to phone for help. When he returned, he found Newell dead in the cab of the big plow.

The dead man was born in Fife Lake, Mich., Oct. 13, 1896, and came to Grayling soon after his marriage in April, 1917. He was employed for several years on the railroad, then by the state and county road commissions. Surviving are his widow, five daughters, Mrs. Harold Bronson and Mrs. Herbert Vickery, both of Pontiac; Mrs. Dennis Cooper of Alpena; and Phyllis and Sandra at home; two sons, Alfred of Tawas City and Bryan, Jr., of Grayling; two brothers, Clifford of Fife Lake and Clyde of Detroit; and five grandchildren. — Mrs. Amy Gothro and Mrs. Roy Miles sang, accompanied by Mrs. C. G. Clippert at the organ. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Oscar Smith, Arthur Worden, Wilbur Simpson, Emory Craft, Johannes Jorgenson and Seth Chappell, brother Moose Lodge members, served as pall bearers.

County Board of Supervisors In Session Last Week

The Crawford County Board of Supervisors met for their January session for three days last week. Routine matters were the largest part of the business transacted.

A committee was appointed to visit and investigate the operation of a former Army Air Field near Alpena which the Alpena Road Commission is leasing from the War Assets Administration. The supervisors wish the information for possible action in connection with the Grayling Army Air Field.

Dr. S. L. Ballard Dies At Bay City

Dr. Sylvester L. Ballard, 65, a long-time summer resident here and for some time a full time resident at his summer residence down river, died early last Wednesday morning from a cerebral hemorrhage at the Bay City General Hospital.

Dr. Ballard, who had been ill for some time, was taken to the Bay City Hospital from his Ausable River home last Tuesday by ambulance. He was well known in Grayling and down-river community, and his death came as a shock to his host of friends.

Born April 4, 1881, in Pioneer, Ohio, Dr. Ballard was graduated from Michigan College of Medicine and Surgery in 1905. A veteran of World War I, in which he served as a captain in the medical corps, he practiced in Auburn until 1919, when he went to Bay City to open offices there.

From 1925 until 1930, Dr. Ballard served as city commissioner in Bay City. He was a member of the Bay County, Michigan, and American Medical associations, the Odd Fellows and Elks. A 32nd degree Mason, he was a member of the Shrine and the Methodist church.

GOP County Delegates To Hold Session Here

Chairman Ray Clement said today that the delegates to the Crawford County Republican Convention had been notified to attend a session at the Court House at 1:00 o'clock on January 27 for the purpose of electing three delegates and three alternates to the State Republican Convention to be held in Grand Rapids on February 8.

The Grand Rapids meeting is being held for the purpose of electing a chairman and vice-chairman of the State Central Committee, nominating two Justices of the Supreme Court for the full terms of 8 years, and one to fill a vacancy; two Regents of the University of Michigan; a Superintendent of Public Instruction; a member to the State Board of Education, and two members to the State Board of Agriculture, and other business that may come before the convention.

Chairman Clement and Secretary-Treasurer Earl Burns pointed out that delegates to the County Convention that were elected in the spring election of 1946 are to serve for two years.

County Operation Costs Increase

That "in-between" unit of government—the county—cost an average of $1.06 more per capita in 1945 than in 1944, according to a report just released by the Michigan Survey, state taxpayer organization.

Henry Steffens, Survey director, revealed that all but 18 of Michigan's 83 counties showed increases in government costs during 1945. This reverses the trend of the war years when county government costs were on the decline.

Crawford County had a per capita cost of $23.02 for an increase of 61 cents per capita over the previous year. This compares with the average per capita county cost of $12.36.

Genesee County was "low man" on the "total" pole, having a per capita cost of only $6.27. At the other extreme, Oscoda County had a per capita cost of $32.58, a variation of almost 520 percent.

The report illustrates, according to Steffens, "the general trend toward rising costs accompanying decreasing county population totals. The lowest per capita cost is found in a county (Genesee) which is the fourth most populous and contains the state's third city, and the highest cost is credited to the least populous county (Oscoda)—the only one in the state that has no incorporated cities or villages."

In breaking these figures down, the Survey report shows that $5.13 was spent in Crawford County for administrative and operating expenses. This compares with the $3.16 average among all counties of the state.

Other Crawford County costs were: Maintenance and construction of highways, $15.67 (state average $3.77); welfare and medical assistance, $2.21 (state average $4.45); and miscellaneous county government functions $0.01 (state average $0.58).

DeLynn Hennig Wed. At Home Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Hennig's home, Royal Oak, was decorated in pink, white and blue for the candlelight service at which their daughter, DeLynn Jean, became the bride of Victor Joseph Parsons, Birmingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Parsons of Grayling.

The Rev. Alfred VanLeuven performed the service at 7 p. m., Dec. 28. Virginia Hennig of Brockton, Mass., was pianist, and Mrs. Marjorie Payne soloist sang "Life's Railway to Heaven."

Lorraine Hennig, sister of the bride, and George D. Dettloff of Detroit attended the couple. Mr. Hennig gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was in pink wool and wore a gardenia corsage. Her maid of honor wore blue wool and a rose corsage. Their mother chose a black and aqua dress.

Wedding dinner was served at the Normandy, after which the newlyweds left for a trip to Northern Michigan. They are now at home at 410 Waverly Avenue.

Graduated from Clawson High School in June, 1944, the bride is now studying piano and theory at Detroit Conservatory of Music. Mr. Parsons was graduated from Frederick High School, Frederic, Mich., and served 32 months with the Construction Battalion of the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Abels came from Bach, Mich., for the wedding.

Circuit Court Opens January Session Tuesday

With Circuit Judge John Shaffer of Gladwin presiding, the January session of the Crawford County Circuit Court opened Tuesday afternoon.

A calendar again top-heavy with divorce actions faced the court. Thirteen cases are on the docket, with nine of the cases being divorce actions. There are two non-divorce civil cases and eleven chancery cases.

It will be the first appearance in court of Robert Neafie as Prosecuting Attorney, the office which he took over on January 1.

79th Press Meet. On Next Week

The 79th anniversary of the Michigan Press Association, Inc., will be held Friday and Saturday, January 24 and 25, at the Hotel Olds in Lansing, it is announced by W. H. Whiteley, publisher of the Presque Isle County Advance at Rogers City, who is president.

Clyde Bedell, newspaper retail advertising and merchandizing consultant, will conduct a clinic on retail advertising. Stephen A. Douglas, sales promotion director for the Kroger Company, Cincinnati, will talk on advertising techniques.

William J. Scripps, Detroit News, will preside at a "State of Michigan Luncheon" at which the publishers' program of traffic safety in Michigan will be presented by Paul Jones, National Safety Council, and by E. C. Hayhow, publisher of the Hillsdale Daily News.

Governor Kim Sigler will conduct a press conference on 1947 state affairs.

The General Motors Corporation is presenting its new post-war "Preview of Progress" at an "All-Michigan Dinner" featuring a "Michigan smorgasbord" arranged by the Michigan Association of Farmer Co-operatives and the State Department of Agriculture. Miss Carrie Bonafante, Detroit soprano, who sang at the state inaugural dinner and ball, will give a program of songs.

"Alaskan Adventures", a motion picture travelogue of Alaska, will be presented by Philip T. Rich, publisher of the Midland Daily News.

Raymond B. Howard of London, Ohio, president of Newspaper Advertising Service, Inc., will address weekly publishers on 1947 plans for national advertising. There will be three round-tables for weekly publishers for discussion of printing, newsprint, circulation, advertising and other management topics.

The Avalanche will be represented by Mrs. R. W. Strong.

Red Cross To Seek $60,000,000 In 1947 Campaign

Washington, D. C.—"Never in time of peace has the American Red Cross been called upon to render such extensive services to the military forces at home and abroad and to veterans as are now required by the armed forces as a military necessity," Basil O'Connor, American Red Cross Chairman, said today in announcing plans for the 1947 Red Cross Fund campaign.

Mr. O'Connor designated March 1 to 31 as the campaign period and said the organization's Central Committee had fixed $60,000,000 as the goal. This financial objective, he explained, was determined following a series of recent conferences with many chapter leaders who reviewed the organization's far-reaching program in this country and abroad.

"The peacetime activities of the American Red Cross are not new but are imposed upon the organization by its Congressional Charter and are of the same nature as those rendered by it after World War I with two marked differences," O'Connor stated.

"First, there is the American Army of Occupation in Japan, Korea, Germany, Austria, and Italy, and second, there were four times as many American men and women in World War II as there were in World War I. Thus now the number of wounded and disabled to be cared for in Army, Navy and Veterans' hospitals in this country and the number of able-bodied veterans requiring services from the Red Cross can be thought of in the ratio of four to one as compared with the previous war."

Glen Day has been named as Drive Chairman for Crawford County and now is busy lining up the chairmen of the various committees and workers. He said that he expected to have a meeting with the group that will work on the campaign locally. Further facts and figures concerning the campaign and funds to be raised in Grayling and Crawford County will be released along with other news when the organization meeting is held, Drive Chairman Day said.

ROOF COLLAPSES UNDER WEIGHT OF ICE AND SNOW

A coal shed roof collapsed Saturday night under the terrific weight of ice and snow near Lake Street on the railroad siding. The shed was the property of the Grayling Lumber and Supply Co., and T. P. Peterson, the company owner, said the loss would be between $200 and $300. The shed was nearly empty of fuel, but it is being cleaned out completely at present. He said the company did not plan on rebuilding at the present time.

Bank Holds Its Annual Meeting

The Grayling State Savings Bank held its 15th annual meeting last Tuesday afternoon with the same slate of officers and directors returned to office. Esbern Hanson was again named Chairman of the Board, while John Bruun was elected President and Manager of the local financial institution.

Holger D. Hanson was named Vice-President, Margrethe Nielsen as Cashier, and Don K. Gothro as Assistant Cashier to complete the officers slate. Wilhelm Raue and A. J. Nelson were named to the Board of Directors, along with Holger and Esbern Hanson and John Bruun.

The 15th annual bank statement, which is carried on other pages of this edition, shows the tremendous rise in business that the bank has enjoyed in its 15-year history. The local bank's history began in the depths of the greatest depression of all time, which it weathered along with the last war, and many other hardships, to swell from a $30,000 institution to better than $1,737,600.

Usual reliable sources at the bank say that some changes are in sight in the very near future. It is expected that the changes will affect the personnel and bank building.

EMTA Announces Photo Contest and Prizes

A photographic contest with prizes totaling $115.00 was announced today by East Michigan Winter Sports Council.

The contest, according to Richard H. Fletcher, Jr., council president, is for the purpose of obtaining pictures to further publicize and advertise winter sports in the eastern and central section of the state.

Open to amateurs and professionals alike, the promotion offers the following prizes: 1st, $50; 2nd, $25; 3rd, $15; 4th, $10; and three honorable mention awards of $5 each.

The contest will close on March 20. Fletcher said that all persons wishing information and rules of the contest may write to the East Michigan Winter Sports Council, Log Office, Bay City, Mich.

Services Held For Mrs. Charron

Funeral services for Mrs. Christina Mabel Charron, of 302 Fulton Street, 32-year resident of Grayling, were held Tuesday at 10 a. m. from St. Mary's Church. Mrs. Charron died quietly at her home January 11, at 11:55 p. m., following a prolonged illness of more than a year.

Never fully recovering from an operation for cancer several weeks ago, Mrs. Charron had been in a serious condition and steadily grew worse.

Flying home from Korea was her son, Sgt. Fabian Charron, who arrived in time to be with his father and other members of the family at Mrs. Charron's bedside during her last hours. Another son, Pvt. Albert J. Charron, Jr., arrived from Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, in time for the services, and Donald Charron and his wife hurried (Continued on Page 7)

Mittsters Entry Blanks At Avalanche Office

Golden Glove fighters have only a few weeks left to complete training for the Northern Michigan Golden Gloves tournament to be held at Boyne City, Jan. 28, 29, and Feb. 1.

Five Northern Michigan communities have already entered teams in the event which is being resumed this year after a wartime layoff. Contestants who compete in the finals successfully will be sent to the state tournament at Grand Rapids, without the necessity of fighting through any sub-tournaments.

Entry blanks for the tournament may be secured at the Crawford Avalanche office. John Selesky, manager of the Grayling American Legion team, announces that his squad is getting in good shape for the tournament and that he expects to have 25 men competing.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Blaine (Mildred Hanson) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, January 13, at Mercy Hospital. The young man will be known as John Hanson Blaine.

Spearing Now Legal In Power Dam Pond

The spearing of pike and suckers in Power Dam Pond from the dam itself upstream to the M. N. and E. Railroad bridge is perfectly legal during January and February, Conservation Officer Clarence Roberts said today.

The stream is well stocked with speareable fish, he said, and many will be taken by spears during this and next month.

March Of Dimes Drive Starts

The 1947 March of Dimes, annual fund raising drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which spark-plugs the never-ceasing battle against polio, will be held January 15 to 30, it was announced today by Mayor George Burke, chairman of the March of Dimes campaign committee here.

The need for funds, Mayor Burke said, has never been greater, since the nation has just emerged from the worst epidemic of polio in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, founded in 1938 to spearhead and co-ordinate the battle against this disease.

Need For Money "United States Public Health Service figures show," said Mayor Burke, "that the 1946 polio epidemic is second only in severity to the great epidemic of 1916, the worst in recorded history. This means that not only were the Foundation and its chapters called upon as never before to supply expensive equipment, personnel and every other aid known to modern science to the stricken, but they still must assist those who have not yet achieved maximum recovery. And there are more of these than there have ever been before."

"The people of Crawford County, in common with Americans everywhere," Mayor Burke went on, "have been most generous in the past in supporting the fight against infantile paralysis through the March of Dimes. Indications are that they will be even more generous this year because they know that this fight is their fight. They realize that the March of Dimes is their best insurance against polio, and that the battle will go on in the laboratory until final victory is won and infantile paralysis joins the other great scourges of mankind unmasked and disarmed by knowledge."

"The annual March of Dimes," Mayor Burke concluded, "is the only means the National Foundation has for financing its battle against infantile paralysis."

P. T. A. Party

Plans are all set up for a big time this Friday evening at the school when the P. T. A. will provide an evening of entertainment for the benefit of the School Band. At 8:00 o'clock, Chairman Richard Lovely and his games committee will have the tables set up and everything in shape for twenty-five cent games and one special grand prize game. Chairman Lovely has a list of fine prizes that have been donated.

Mrs. Van Smith has a pair of hand-made pillow slips that will go to some lucky person.

At 9:30, Dance Chairman Joseph Stripe will have the Rhythm Kings Trio in full swing for old-fashioned and modern dancing. Tickets for this one are 35c each and the dancing will last until 12:00.

During the evening a lunch of home-made sandwiches, donuts and coffee will be served by the Lunch Committee, consisting of Mrs. Joseph Lennert, Mrs. K. Kitchen, Mrs. J. Mallinger, Mrs. W. Kumpula, Mrs. E. Wales, Mrs. L. Trudeau, Mrs. R. McEvers and Mrs. B. Randolph. This group is headed by co-chairmen Mrs. C. Richardson and Mrs. Van Smith. There will be games, dancing and lunch to round out an enjoyable evening. The proceeds will go to the Band Fund for instruments for the School Band.

Douglas Alan is the name given to the new son born to Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Blaine, Saturday, January 11, at Mercy Hospital.

Grayling Queen Visits Detroit

Snow Holiday Plans Increase

Detroit, Michigan's metropolis, was the first Michigan city to actually name its contestant for the title of "Miss Michigan Snow Queen" that will be bestowed on the winner of the Winter Queen contest that will take place during the three-day Winter Carnival here next week-end.

Miss June Simms, Wayne University senior, who was their Homecoming Queen, will represent Southeastern Michigan in the contest. Bay City is in the process of selecting its contestant for the Winter Queen crown, as are several other Michigan cities.

Miss Nancy Cox, Grayling's Queen, spent several days in Detroit last week, selecting her winter wardrobe. She was accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Stealy, Chairman of the Queen's Committee. She received publicity and pictures in all three of Detroit's papers.

Plans are complete for the Queen's Ball, which will be held at the Grayling High School gym on Saturday evening, January 25. An advance sale of tickets for the dance starts today (Thursday) at Dawson's, Mac's Drug Store, Shoppenagons Inn and Duke's Hotel, according to Chamber of Commerce President Wesley Kumpula, who is in charge of the affair. He also says the decorations which are being prepared by Miss Thelma Hubbell will be worth the price of admission alone.

"She's really doing a fine job," President Kumpula said; "you all most feel you can brush snow off some of the backdrops, it appears so real."

Although it was necessary to cancel last week's snow trains, two are expected this week and on the Carnival week-end trains from Saginaw and Bay City have already had a good advance sale, carnival spokesmen said.

1,000 At The Park Over 1,000 winter sports enthusiasts rolled, tobogganed and skied in the fine weather at the park last Sunday. The weather was clear but brisk, and the toboggan slides and ice rink and ski slopes were in excellent shape. Park operations are being whipped into shape in anticipation of a big carnival crowd, said William Richter, area supervisor, who added that they would be ready to adequately take care of everyone and see that they had a good time.

The girl selected to reign as Michigan Snow Queen will be crowned at the Ball Saturday night and presented at the park Sunday. One man selected to do one of the honors is the new Executive Secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, R. C. McLaughlin, former assistant chief of the Conservation Department's Education Division. The other man has not as yet been named.

Most of last week and nearly all day Sunday, movies in both black and white and in color were being made at the park for film shorts and television use. Robert Brooks, who is handling the publicity of the Carnival for the Grayling Chamber of Commerce, was busy supervising and taking still pictures in black and white and also in color. Several of his pictures are scheduled for reproduction in metropolitan daily papers within the next few days.

VISUAL EDUCATION

Last week the elementary grades studied the sound film on the Australian Bear. The film was from the University of Michigan library. "The World of Science", from General Electric Co., was also shown.

SEMESTER EXAMS

The week has been a busy one for high school students and teachers, who have been busy with the first semester examinations. There will be no high school classes Thursday in order to give the teachers time to mark the examination papers, average and record cards, which are due out Friday.

HOT LUNCH

Nearly 100 pupils are eating hot lunch at school each noon. Mrs. McLeod is the cook, and with the help of a few students, produces a good, wholesome lunch.

DISHES
The hot lunch project needs dishes, especially small and medium sized bowls or oat meal dishes, spoons, forks and knives. Any one who has some extras couldn't find a better place for them than in the hot lunch kitchen.

PAINTING

Several more rooms are bright and new with paint. It is hoped that by next fall the study hall and gym can be painted. It will have been nearly 15 years since they were painted last. The funds for this work come from the special 5-mill Building and Repair Fund voted by the electors at the annual meeting in 1945.

JANUARY 25 - 26 SET ASIDE AS BOOSTER TAG DAY.

On Saturday and Sunday, January 25-26, Grayling School Band students will be around town and at the Winter Sports Park with Booster Band tags.

Mr. Ernest Larson is acting as chairman of the tag day at the park and Mrs. Carl Richardson is in charge of the project in town.

Everyone is asked to plan for this big week-end and BOOST the Band by wearing a tag on the two days.

Don't forget the Alumni basketball game scheduled for Tuesday, February 18. This will be the first such game in 14 years and will give the sports fans a chance to compare former stars of the hardwood with those of today.

Frederic News

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leng and two sons, of Lorain, Ohio, are here visiting at the home of the William Leng.

Otis Weaver is visiting his daughters, Mrs. Chet Garner, Mrs. Douglas Miljure and Miss Alma in Detroit.

Mrs. James E. Tobin is visiting in Bay City.

Dan Pratt has gone to make his home for the winter with the Ed Welchs in Grayling.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fox and children spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. John Burk.

Vern Wallace came home last week after a lengthy visit with his daughter, Mrs. Marlin Weaver, in Buchanan.

Mrs. Ray Murphy is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kellogg of Saginaw were week-end visitors with the latter's parents, the A. D. Lengs.

Roy Milnes' 214 was the best individual single game effort for the week, while Al Cherven's series of 547 was the top three games of the week. Neither disturbed the year's best individual single game.

series.

Cherven is still leading the average parade with 179. In second is Roy Milnes with 172, followed by Sam Rasmussen with 171, and Dave Cook with 170. Harold Jarmin is in fifth with 169, while Charley Papenfus and Al Carribeau share sixth with 166 each. Herman Bertl, Carl Nass and Johnny Johnson are in a three-way tie for seventh with 164, while Bill Sterling and Doc Martzowka share eighth with 162 each. Larry Galehouse and E. Smith share ninth with 161 and tenth is held jointly by Tony Nelson and Rolla Failing with 159 apiece.

Lovells Notes

Larry Hennard and friend, of Bay City, were guests of the Joe Gerdopos, Saturday.

Arthur Feldhauser, who is employed with the Conservation Department, has been transferred from Hunt Creek territory to Hubbard Lake.

Soon the ice job will be under way. Plans are beginning to start. Pat Carroll returned the latter part of last week from a couple weeks visit with relatives and friends in and around Flint. He resumed his work at the Douglas Hotel.

Bert Gilbert has been on the sick list with a bad cold. Glad to report he is much better.

Bob Kellogg is now working for Mr. Garber in Saginaw.

CHEVROLET IS FIRST

First IN CAR PRODUCTION • • • First IN TRUCK PRODUCTION
First IN COMBINED CAR AND TRUCK PRODUCTION!

AGAIN at the close of 1946—when America's need for new motor cars and trucks is most urgent—the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors leads all other manufacturers in automotive production. This means that Chevrolet is first in passenger car production—first in truck production—first in combined passenger car and truck production... despite the fact that all Chevrolet plants were closed completely during the first three months of 1946! Naturally, Chevrolet hopes to be able to build more and more of these fine products which America is buying so eagerly—the only motor car giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—the only truck giving BIG-TRUCK QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—the complete Chevrolet line which stands out as the lowest-priced line in its field! Meanwhile, it stands to reason you'll get bigger value and quicker delivery by purchasing the product of America's largest builder of cars and trucks—Chevrolet!

Remember... LARGEST PRODUCTION means QUICKEST DELIVERY of your new car. Place and keep your order with us for a new Chevrolet and get biggest value as well as earliest possible delivery!

CHEVROLET—LOWEST-PRICED LINE IN ITS FIELD!

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
 Released by Western Newspaper Union.

By VIRGINIA VALE
CASTING Janet Blair in a co-starring role in "The Fabulous Dorseys" was a smart move on the part of Producer Charles R. Rogers.
 The role is that of a beautiful girl with singing and dancing talent who's a neighbor of the Dorseys in Pennsylvania.

 Well—Janet hails from Altoona, Pa., and emerged into the limelight as a band singer before coming to Hollywood. Incidentally, the Dorseys say it's lucky they were such fighters, because otherwise they might not have been so successful.
 They worked together as long as they could, trying to direct one band jointly. The break came, Tommy went his way alone, Jimmy went his —result, two top-notch bands.

Tom Conway is fast becoming the top whodunit actor in show business.
 He is "Sherlock" in "The Hound of the Baskin-Shanklyn" on TV nights.

TOM CONWAY

ture, "The Falcon's Adventure." If Basil Rathbone carries out his plan to forsake the screen, Conway may be chosen to succeed him as the cinema "Sherlock." And all without trading on his relationship to his brother, George Sanders.

Kay Gorcey, wife of Groucho Marx, has been signed to appear with her husband in a comedy dance routine for the Sam Coslow production, "Copacabana," a forthcoming
 United Artists release, with Carmen Miranda, Andy Russell, Steve Cochran and Gloria Jean.

Ken Niles, announcer for "Suspense," has been signed to play the role of the attorney in Robert Mitchum's RKO picture, "Out of the Past." You may be familiar with the story under the really good original title, which was "Build My Gallows High."

Lowell Thomas was all set to make teaching his life work, till he took a trip to Alaska and made some unusual films of primitive mining communities. Later, teaching at Princeton, he lectured a few times, using his films as illustrations. It proved to be so profitable that he abandoned teaching, and he's been traveling the world and getting paid for it ever since.

Andrew Toombs, character actor who crashed films because of his bald head, has played more than 200 bald-head roles in pictures. But he gets the break of a lifetime in Warners' Technicolor musical, "My Wild Irish Rose"—wears a flowing head of hair, appropriately parted in the middle, for his role of a bartender of the Gay Nineties. Incidentally, Dennis Morgan's doing road work to keep in trim for the picture; he hasn't done a strenuous vocal chore since "The Desert Song," and finds singing more taxing than merely making love.

Chet Lauck and Tuffy Goff ("Lum" and "Abner") have a new protege.
 She's Ruth Parrot, who played a lady barber on their program. Her performance interested 20th Century-Fox talent scouts, and she landed a role in "Mother Wore Tights."
 Now Chet and Tuffy say they can hardly wait for the picture to be released, so that they can begin taking bows for discovering her in the first place.

Andy Devine's been signed to a long-term contract by Republic, after being with Universal for a number of years. His latest Universal picture is Walter Wanger's "Canyon Passage," his first at Republic will be "Bells of San Angelo," a Western.
 Hiram Brown, producer-director of the CBS "Inner Sanctum," got the idea for the program six years ago when he heard a squeaking door in a radio sound effects department.
 He acquired the door, and has presented the weekly shriek and shudder show ever since.

ODDS AND ENDS—Betty Hutton's
 baby, Lindsay Diana, has a bassinet lined with pink satin that was originally used to decorate an elaborate set in Betty's most recent film,
 "Perils of Pauline." Marsha Vickers made her screen debut as a corpse in a horror picture—and now she's considered one of the most beautiful young women in Hollywood. . . . William Prames, formerly the 200-pound fat boy in Educational comedies, is portraying a thin, love-lorn sailor in "Time Out of Mind."

 such products as potatoes.

Here is a basic progressive program, and Governor Sigler's emphasis should be most helpful.
 There is some feeling at Lansing that the state's food advertising program itself has been premature, like putting the cart ahead of the horse, and that it should have been preceded by consumer confidence and acceptance of Michigan food products through uniform inspection and grading. Advertising itself can not create confidence in the consumer's mind that Michigan potatoes, for example, are superior to those from Idaho or Maine.

The Sigler spirit of grand jury reform was reflected throughout the inaugural message. The Governor would encourage honesty in public service through better salaries for legislators, prohibition of "sale" of political influence for money, regulation of lobbyists, and more direct control of state commissions.

More executive power was suggested by Sigler as a way of ending the independent operation of commissions, many of which make rules and regulations having the December 31st, 1946, our bank completed the first 15 years of its existence and we desire at this time to express our sincere appreciation to our depositors for the confidence placed in us and the co-operation extended to us, without which we could not have experienced the satisfactory growth reflected in the above figures.

This whole-hearted co-operation has enabled us in turn to render adequate banking services to our community. Two items alone will illustrate this: 14,793 loans have been made to date, amounting to $5,327,317.66. This amount of loans, we believe, has directly or indirectly benefitted everyone living in Crawford County. Also, we have handled and cleared for our clients during this fifteen-year period checks amounting to $107,330,392.14.

Since December 31st, 1932, the bank has weathered the "Bank Holiday", the severe depression of the thirties, the World War II period with all its strain and extra load of work such as the O. P. A. "Coupon Banking", sale of War Bonds of which the officers, directors and personnel of the bank were very active. Many of our operations were interfered with because of existing, necessary but cumbersome war regulations.

We are now in the post-war period with its many attendant problems of reconversion and re-adjustment. However, we believe, or at least hope, that less strenuous and more normal times are ahead.

In the meantime, it will be our aim to continue to render banking services to the best of our ability to the people of Grayling and Crawford County.

With best wishes for the Happiness and Prosperity of all of our clients in 1947, we remain

Yours very truly,

BILLY BRAND

BABIES NEED MORE FOOD THAN MILK TO MAKE THEM STRONG, BILLY.

ANCIENT PEOPLES HAD STRANGE SUPERSTITIONS ABOUT BABY CARE.

FOR CENTURIES BABIES WERE UNDER-NOURISHED BECAUSE OF THEIR POOR DIET.

THE MILK COMES THROUGH SMALL HOLES IN THE CLOTH COVERED WOODEN KNOB OF THE NEW NURSING BOTTLE.

ANN IS TRYING TO CLEAN, CHOP AND STRAIN HER VEGETABLES—I HARDLY HAVE A CHANCE TO PLAY WITH HER.

SCIENTISTS THEN FOUND THAT BABIES NEED MORE NOURISHMENT THAN MILK AND GRUEL.

IN THE 1920'S A NUMBER OF AMERICAN FOOD COMPANIES DEVELOPED PREPARED BABY FOODS, KEEPING PACE WITH THE GROWTH OF MEDICAL SCIENCE.

TODAY DOCTORS PRESCRIBE THE BRAND OF BABY FOODS THAT BEST SUITS THE NEEDS OF THE INDIVIDUAL CHILD.

STRAINED VEGETABLES BABY FOODS ARE VERY NOURISHING AND ARE BEING CONSTANTLY IMPROVED BY LABORATORY RESEARCH.

THE RUBBER NIPPLE WAS INVENTED IN 1861, BUT WAS OFTEN UNSANITARY.

SSASICK COWS ABOARD A SAILING VESSEL IN 1861 INSPIRED THE INVENTOR OF CANNED MILK.

THE BABIES ON BOARD ARE VERY ILL BECAUSE THE MILK FROM THE SICK COWS DOES NOT AGREE WITH THEM.

IF I CAN DISCOVER HOW TO KEEP MILK PURE IN CANS, BABIES WON'T HAVE TO DEPEND ON SEA-GOING CATTLE.

HE MUST HAVE SPECIAL FOODS WHICH HAVE BEEN CHEWED WELL BY A NURSE.

BABY WON'T EAT HIS 'BREAD-PAP'.

THEN WRAP HIM TIGHTLY IN SWADDLING CLOTHES TO MAKE HIM STURDY AND STRAIGHT.

I WILL RUB HIM WITH SALT TO MAKE HIS BODY STRONG.

NORTHWOOD BOWLING ALLEYS

CHAPTER VI

"For almost nothing, but thanks anyway."

He left the Club and trudged through the midnight city, a sullen gloom curtaining his thoughts.

He felt exasperated and thwarted. It seemed impossible to get anywhere at all in the infernal morass that dulled his senses. Despite the blank he had drawn at every lead he pursued, in spite of the simple explanation that seemed to rationalize every suspicion, he held tight to the premonition that warned him of sinister developments to come. A maelstrom was waiting to engulf them all. He was sure of it.

The lights of an all-night lunchroom winked through the murky drew Duke inside. It was a dismal enough place, peopled with a few down-at-heel stragglers.

The restaurant door banged and a tall, wasted figure in a bedraggled coat and hat slouched to the counter. There was something familiar about that back. Instinctively, McCale half rose to his feet to see, but his movement was too late. Joe Leach saw him as he turned, tray in hand. He shuffled over and sat down.

"Hi, shamus," he said. "Well, all turned out in tails, I see. Excuse me, but you look as though you'd just been thrown out of the Ritz. What are you disguised as—a magician?"

McCale grunted noncommittally.

"Won't talk, huh? It just happens I'm a bit of a dick myself, bud, so I'll dig down in my bag of tricks and pull out the fact that you've been hobnobbing with the elite—the Bigelow tribe to be exact. What have they been having—a soiree?"

"Good God. Have you had a tail on me?"

"Deduction, shamus. No. To be honest, every agency in town knows you've knocked off the Bigelow job. How'd you do it? What's it all about?"

"What'd you give to know?"

"Oh, Lord. I'm just curious."

"It might be worth your while."

"Look. I won't argue with you. Either you tell me or tell it to the marines, I'm indifferent now. What does it matter?" He made a slight movement as if he were about to get up and go.

"All right, all right. I just thought I might soak you for a five. I lost my pants in a game tonight. The truth is, Stephen Bigelow called our office to get the low-down on you, late this afternoon."

"Called your office? To get dope on me?" Duke gave a raucous, derisive howl. "That's too darned funny. What's the connection—between your outfit and Stephen Bigelow, I mean?"

"We did some work for him once."

"You did?"

"Uh, uh."

"What kind of work—the usual?"

"Sure."

"Who was the dame?"

"His wife."

McCale's spine began to prickle. He hoped his sudden interest did not show too much on his face. He lit a cigarette slowly, deliberately, before he asked cautiously, "Divorce angle?"

Joe Leach didn't answer. He pushed a half-eaten piece of apple pie away from him, sipped his coffee.

Five Dollars' Worth Of Information

McCale reached inside his coat and withdrew his wallet. He extracted a five-dollar bill and put it on the table. He kept one finger on the end nearest him.

"All right, you robber," he said. Leach laughed. He made a sly snatch for the bill and got a hard rap on the knuckles with a table knife for his pains.

"No, you don't," McCale snapped. "The dirt first, my grasping friend. And it had better be good!"

Leach winced, rubbed his hand, and sat back.

"My, you're fast, my little one. You may not think it's worth the five, but here it is. About six months ago this Stephen Bigelow came in to see Watkins. Wanted a tall put on his wife. He didn't say much, but the boss figured it was the old divorce routine. I got the night job—following her around to the nightclub. She went out a lot, alone. I trailed along for a couple of weeks. She'd stop in at a lounge bar now and then, always met people she knew, but never seemed to gather in anyone particular. Then one night I followed her as far as a studio building in Copley Square. A dumb elevator boy couldn't place her or tell me where in the building he took her. I'd wait and in a few hours she'd come out alone. This happened two or three times a week until one night, late, she came out with a middle-aged guy. They went to a quiet little restaurant around the corner. I tagged along. It looked like the old, old story to me."

"You found out who the man was?"

"Sure. Well, here's where the drama falls apart. Hmm, I see where I don't get paid off. He was a piano teacher, name of Parecini. Not an old-timey grand piano with a weakness for blondes, after all. We turned the news over to Stevie boy, and damned if he didn't seem relieved. He came in a week or so afterwards to pay his bill. He told us his wife had once shown great talent for the piano, but had lost the use of an arm from nervous shock or arthritis or something. She was getting back her old tal-lop again, slowly. She'd been going to the old bird for lessons, keeping it from the family for a surprise, or so he said. Now, how do you like that?"

"I like it."

"You think it was the truth? Now, see here, in spite of the fact that it looked on the level, I think it was fishy. I wasn't pulled right off the tail, see? It was over a week before Stevie came in to pay up. We hadn't heard from him to the contrary, so I kept on the job. But the blonde bombshell never went near Parecini's studio again. She must have backed down somewhere along the line."

"They probably had a nice old-fashioned heart-to-heart talk and patched it up. My guess would be that she wanted to continue her studies with the idea of going on the stage, or something of the sort, but Stephen put his foot down. The family probably wouldn't stand for it."

"Yeah. Funny, isn't it? Not that either of them seem socially conscious."

"Your insight is amazing. They are both good family, but not quite—as you say."

"Well, whether you know it or not, Stevie was quite a gay dog once. Used to do a bit of chasing in the old days."

"I don't doubt that, but I think he's in love with his wife."

"Umm. Better to have loved, et cetera. He sure seems nuts about her."

"Decidedly."

"That's all of my little offering. Got the tin?"

One night late she came out with a middle-aged guy.

"Oh, sure. . . . Take it."

He slid the money over to the big man. He had the exasperating feeling that he'd been cheated. He shrugged it a way.

McCale had set his alarm for seven-thirty the next morning. It had shrilled in vain. A feeble ray of sunlight flickered across his face as someone shook him by the shoulder. Shrugging out from under the none too gentle pressure, he blinked, yawned, and saw by the clock that it was much later.

"Hey, boss," Rocky was saying. "It's almost nine o'clock. Your beautiful girl secretary will be here any time now. I've got a pot of java perking."

"I'll settle for orange juice," he answered as he swung himself off the bed.

"Then go take a walk for it. Coffee is just about all the larder holds."

McCale began to dress as Rocky headed for the inner sanctum. It didn't take him long. His toilet completed, he went directly to the office windows to pull back the curtains on another dreary morning. He took the cup of coffee his assistant handed him and waited until they sat facing each other across the desk, before beginning conversation.

"Well," he said, between sips of the hot black liquid, "let's have your bird's-eye or keyhole view of the goings on of last night."

A Jittery Family, Thinks Rocky

"Nothing sensational to report, boss, outside of a lot of nervous running in and out till about one a. m. I had a look-see at about everyone but the dame called Victoria. She'd gone out someplace to dinner when I got there and must have slipped in without my lamping her, if she came home at all."

"No trouble with the servants?"

"I only saw the butler. Very superior guy. He kept looking in the dining room where I was sitting with an eye on the door. I don't know whether he thought I was going to snatch some of the fingerbolls or sample the family bourbon. Anyhow, he kept popping up at odd moments until around ten-thirty. Say, what a parade of junk they've accumulated."

"Yeah. What do you think of the but-ut? In general, I mean. At mosphere—kind of thing."

"I may be wrong, but outside of the little old lady, they're a bunch of screwballs. She's okay. A little jumpy, but for that matter, the whole caboodle ain't my idea of what I've been led to think of as calm, quiet, untroubled bloods. They're all as jittery as a hand- over."

must have another session. For sure, you are not caught in the trap; this fellow sets for the unwary. As you afraid Veronica will lavish too much of the Bigelow money on her, forgetting the others? You see, have heard that she inherits the bulk of it upon her marriage."

She sought his eyes again, and the queer secret duel that they had all the while been fighting underneath the smooth surface was ended suddenly and completely.

Adelaide Bigelow was giving in. McCale could tell. It was in her eyes, all the pent-up gnawing worry of something horrible and unclear. She wasn't going to hold out on him any more, and now maybe he could help.

"I will tell you," she said simply. "Veronica's father, my brother, she began, mollifying him to all, was a hard man, I suppose, but not unusual for his time. I think. He believed that women have no heads for business—cannot handle money. He was heir to my father's business and fortune of about twelve million dollars. With real estate and clever investing, he more than doubled that fortune. There was no male heir to whom he could leave it, you see."

"There was his adopted son, Stephen," McCale put in quickly. "Yes," she hesitated, "but not his own flesh and blood. But there was certainly Stephen." She edged over to the window again.

She faced him from the recess of the window's bay, the high red velvet draperies dwarfing her in the elongated shadows. Her eyes, for a moment, seemed to play hide-and-seek with a memory.

"At one time, I think he intended for Stephen to inherit. But Stephen, in his eyes at least, proved himself unworthy. Sybil always spoiled him. He grew up precocious, extravagant. He ran away once and joined the navy. A bitter experience for him. The more so when he found that Joel could no doubt have procured an appointment to Annapolis for him. He did manage M.I.T. by the skin of his teeth. Marriage to Karen has straightened him out somewhat."

"So the Bigelow fortune is held in trust?"

"Yes and no." Miss Adelaide rushed on now as though pressed for time. "My brother did not believe in having money standing idle for always. He wrote a most peculiar will."

She steeled herself, as if giving information on so private a matter required a supreme effort.

"I think he believed we would all benefit eventually. I—I believed he counted on Veronica's marrying someone whose background we all knew. You see, Sybil and I have to agree on Veronica's choice."

"Rather hard on Veronica, I should say."

"Oh, yes." She was trying hard to explain it as she saw it. "But he thought—"

The old voice rose now, an hysterical note in it. "He wished a man to have control of it. Veronica's husband gains control of it to do with as he will."

"Good!" McCale exploded. The spool of his brain turned swiftly in a convulsive unreeling. The plot it brought to mind left him numb—by its malevolence.

It was his turn to go to the window. He stood looking into the blanket of fog, seeing nothing for a moment. He felt lost in the stunned silence of his own thoughts. Behind him, he heard Miss Bigelow sigh.

"Why didn't you come to me before?" was all he could say. And his voice sounded so loud in the stillness that it seemed almost to penetrate the outside. As if he had heard, the loitering shadow across the way actually looked up once at the windows. McCale laughed harshly.

"Now you are caught in a really diabolical web. Too late to extricate yourselves without a scandal!"

Light fled from her old eyes as inwardly she contemplated such a thing. He felt cruel and vicious and hard, but at least rational, and was not quite able to comprehend her attitude.

Tragedy Strikes Suddenly

"We can still expose this fellow-me-lad. It's quite possible that I can dig up something in a few days. She joined him in the bay window, shaking her head in a quick gesture of distaste.

"Impossible," she murmured. "Then why, in all justice to yourself, did you call me in at all?" he wanted to know.

"I think I wanted to be sure."

He left her staring out into the rain and went back to the fire.

"Who introduced Curt Valadeau court into this house?" he asked, raising his eyes to the woman at the window.

But his query went unanswered. For on the instant of bringing his glance to focus on her, he saw her away—as if something outside had struck terror to her heart. He thought for a moment she would fall through the window.

A shot split the silence, forcing a cry from her lips. He believed for one awful moment that someone outside had shot Adelaide, half expected to hear the shattered glass of a windowpane fall to the floor. In one leap, he was at her side. She huddled against him, pointing out and down.

One quick glance and the scene below was forever photographed on the film of his mind. He saw a woman in green running along the by-path of the Common that blessed the hill.

to Grayling from Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Charron, formerly Christina Mabel MacGillis, was born February 14, 1893, in South Branch Township, Crawford County. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacGillis.

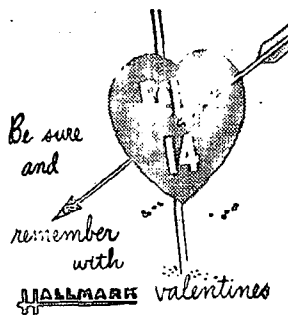

Following a preparatory course in teaching at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, Michigan, Mrs. Charron taught school in Crawford County until her marriage to Albert Joseph Charron in 1915. Since then Mr. and Mrs. Charron had lived in Grayling.

To all who knew her, Mrs. Charron depicted the perfect life, successfully raising eight children and carefully guiding them to a good start in life. She lived a good, clean life and was respected and loved deeply by everyone. Her passing was a real loss to all. She was an active member of the St. Mary's Altar Society, who attended the funeral in a group.

Surviving are her husband and four daughters: Sister Mary Theonilla (formerly Rose Mary Charron) of Greenville, Michigan, Margaret Charron and Mrs. Kathryn Such of Detroit; sons Donald of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Kermit of Laingsburg, Michigan, Pvt. Albert J. of Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, and Sgt. Fabian Charron, stationed in Korea; her mother, Mrs. Sophie MacGillis; sisters, Mrs. Carrie Shirey and Mrs. Carl Richardson, of Roscommon; Mrs. Leslie Harner and Miss Gertrude MacGillis, of Flint; and a brother, John MacGillis, of Roscommon.

Officiating at the services was the Rev. Father Francis Branigan. Pall bearers were Clarence Charron of Trenton, Michigan, Carl Richardson of Roscommon, John Parsons of Rogers City, Leslie Harner of Flint, Ray Murphy of Frederic, and Oscar Charron of Grayling.

One day—soon we trust—we will be "watching the Fords go by" in greater numbers than ever before, and you probably will be driving one! Why? Because the Ford of the future is going to be the sort of car you have always liked... and bought. It will be big, smartly styled, with real comfort and plenty of power. Naturally, it will be a car you can depend on... reliable in the finest Ford tradition.

We hope you won't have to wait long for your Ford of the future... but it will be well worth waiting for.

Basketball

of the season. The Boyne squad was much taller and heavier and threw their weight around to advantage. Referee Wardrop and Wares of Mt. Pleasant received plenty of jeers from the Boyne City boosters during the first half and then reversed themselves to come in for boos from the Grayling fans during the last half.

Grayling made but two foul shots out of 10, while Boyne cashed in on 4 out of 8 besides sinking two more field goals than the locals. Keway led the locals with 8 points on four beautiful shots, followed by Carlson with 7 and Miller with 6. J. Moore bell-crowed Boyne with 9 points.

The Grayling Reserves also lost a heart-breaker to the Boyne seconds by a 21 to 20 score. J. Feldhauser led the Wavelets with 8 points. Andrews and Bradley led the Boyne seconds with 6 points each.

Although East Jordan led most of the way last Tuesday at East Jordan, Grayling poured on the coal in the final minutes, after Jordan had lost two players via the foul route, to pull the game out of the fire by a 35 to 34 score. Phil Keway was also evicted for five personals late in the game.

Chuck Feldhauser and Keway each scored 10 points, while Dick Miller hit for 8, Carlson for 4, Goss for 3 and J. Feldhauser in his first varsity appearance snagged a bucket for 2 points. Max Niederer also made his debut with the varsity. Both boys have been playing heads-up ball for the Reserves and will now be playing with the varsity. Ayers led East Jordan with 13 points.

The Reserves lost again by a 23 to 18 score to the East Jordan Reserves. Bielski hit for 6 points and Krag for 4 to lead the local team. Thomson of East Jordan led his team with 8 points.

Six teams began intramural basketball play at the High School last week, with the Michigan team defeating the Ohio squad by a 13 to 12 score. Illinois downed the Minnesota team by a lopsided score of 25 to 1. Northwestern trimmed Wisconsin in the third game by a 12 to 9 count.

The league is made up of Junior High boys who are learning the fundamentals and rules of the court game.
